DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 12, 13, 19, 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hong et al. (6,768,380).

Hong et al. (Fig. 5) disclose a distributed amplifier comprising: an a.c. input signal along transmission line (111); the a.c. signal coupled to primary conductor (111) and auxiliary (110); and transmission line (112) functions as a conductance and transistor (Q1) functions as transconductance coupled between auxiliary conductor (110) and ground conductor (note source of transistor (Q1) is coupled to ground).

Regarding claim 19, wherein conductance (112) can be an inductive element.

Regarding claim 20, wherein termination is seen at resistor (108).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 4, 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schindler et al. (5,227,734) in view of Ishibayashi (6,653,905).

Schindler et al. (5,227,734) disclose a distributed amplifier comprises a plurality of amplifiers that are evenly distributed along the transmission line except having primary, auxiliary and ground conductors having the connections as claimed.

Ishibayashi (Fig. 1) disclose a circuit diagram comprising: a transformer (T) having a first primary conductor coupled to the source of transistor (21); a first auxiliary conductor coupled to the drain of transistor (21), wherein first primary and first auxiliary are inductively coupled; and transistor (21) can be read as a first non-inverting amplification; and gate of transistor (21) coupled to ground conductor.

Accordingly, it would have been obvious in view of the reference, taken as a whole, to have replaced the amplifier circuit of Schindler et al. with the amplifier of Ishibayashi, since such a modification would have imparted the advantageous benefit of strong-input characteristic, signal amplifying characteristic and noise-figure characteristic which are balanced (see col. 1, lines 52-56) as taught by Ishibayashi, to Schandler et al. reference, thereby suggesting the obviousness of such a modification.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2, 3, 6, 14-18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 7-11 are allowed.
